

SYM302

Introduction to Research Methodology

Dr. Birpal Singh Thenua

Associate Professor

Department of Sociology and Political Science

Dayalbagh Educational Institute (Deemed to be University)

Dayalbagh Agra

Introduction

- This course educates students about basics of research methodology specially research design, techniques of data collections, various research methods such as pure and applied, historical and empirical methods in social science.

Course Objectives

- It aims to develop students' critical thinking
- To provide students with a comprehensive understanding
- To enable students with the knowledge and skills
- To explore fundamental distinctions between various types of research
- To enhance students' skill to utilize various research methods

Course Content

- SOCIAL RESEARCH
- FORMULATION OF RESEARCH DESIGN
- TECHNIQUES OF DATA COLLECTION
- TYPES OF RESEARCH
- METHODS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH

Learning Outcomes

- Students will be able to define and explain research
- Distinguish between the objectivity and subjectivity
- To apply concepts in formulation and testing of hypothesis
- To define and characterized various techniques of data collection

- To understand and apply various techniques of data collection
- To define and distinguish various types of researches
- To apply different forms of experimental researches in social sciences.
- To understand and describe various methods
- To critically analyze inductive and deductive reasoning

Thank You